

Susana Ludovino

Susana Ludovino is currently responsible for REN's Studies and European Affairs Department, coordinating the medium/long-term resource adequacy assessments as well as the european and national policy issues.

From 2019 to 2023 Susana was responsible for REN's Innovation Department, creating and managing the portfolio of projects and the innovation ecosystem, as well as the Research, Development and Innovation Management System, which, in 2021, was certified according to Portuguese standard NP4457:2007.

Previously, was part of the Network Planning Department with the responsibility for managing the grid connection processes for new producers and consumers to the National Transmission Grid and for preparing network integration studies and supporting the national implementation of European connection codes.

Susana began her professional career at the Di Electrical Energy Services Department, Electrical Licensing Division, in 2002, analyzing and licensing electrical installations projects and perform electrical inspections.

Degree in Electrical and Computer Engineering – Energy and Systems, from Instituto Superior Técnico, in 2002.
Master's Degree in Electrical and Computer Engineering, in 2010, with recognition through an honourable mention from the 2010 REN AWARD.

Postgraduate Degree in Foresight, Strategy and Innovation, from ISEG – Instituto Superior de Economia e Gestão, in 2021, with BEST IN CLASS – EDP AWARD recognition.